“At home in church – committed for the world”. Our work in the world is based on our roots in the Catholic Church. The Christian Social Ethics is the basis for our evaluation of political and social processes.

Kolping Austria is committed in many different work fields:

We open perspective for young people.

We co-create the working world and we are committed in social issues.

We are representation for family and help building the One World.

We are looking for people, who want to join us on our path, who are ready, to commit themselves and to join in, who are ready to help us.
